 - Participate in daily geological logging, sampling, and QA/QC protocols
 - Manage active drillholes for deviation, pierce-point spacing, productivity
 - Conduct core interpretation, structural analysis, and contribute to geological modeling
 - Ensure health, safety, and environmental compliance on site
 - Collaborate with multidisciplinary teams, contractors, and stakeholders

Qualifications

- B.Sc. in Geology (minimum); M.Sc. considered an asset
 - Registered (or immediately eligible for registration) as a P.Geo. or G.I.T. with Engineers and Geoscientists BC (EGBC)
 - 1–5 years of relevant exploration experience, including core logging, mapping, sampling, and QAQC procedures
 - Strong knowledge of geologic logging, sampling, and QA/QC procedures
 - Excellent organizational, communication, and teamwork skills
 - Willingness to work in remote field locations on a rotational basis (e.g., 2 weeks in / 2 weeks out)
 - Eligible to work in Canada (does not require sponsorship)
